Calles Greets Lindy Amid Cheers

Today
Another Lindbergh Day.
Rockefeller's Idea.
Don't Be a Dim Bulb.
Thin Prosperity.
—By Arthur Brisbane—

HOODS, CALIF., Dec. 14.—Lindbergh, world's champion flyer, landed in Mexico City this afternoon, notifies the world that young men in this country know how to fly, in spite of the fact that their government does not yet realize the importance of flying. The news of his latest triumph delights the scattered population of this Molave desert, as it does the great crowds in cities.

Other governments, knowing that Lindbergh is typical of American youth, and that there are 10,000 Lindberghs ready to run American machines, will want some of our nonstop flights aimed in their direction, with hostile intent, and will avoid provoking such flights.

Lindbergh's flying example is making converts here in California rapidly. J. L. Stuck, who used to play polo and follow the bounds at Chicago's Owenwille Club before he was fifty, has bought a duplicate of Lindbergh's plane arranged to carry five, and uses it commuting from Los Angeles to his shooting lodge near Sacramento with his eleven-year-old son, two friends and a pilot. He makes the 500-mile trip in about five hours.

Other men, giving up polo, should "natter" to a flying machine, not to an early chair, and encourage aviation. Every outsider of a fast plane renders a service to his country.

The United States Gymnasium Company, with offices in twenty cities and twenty-two miles and miles in fifteen States, has this good idea. All headquarters managers devote two hours, from 9 to 11 a. m., to "concentration." They allow no interruption except in emergencies. From 11 to 5 they see subordinates and business visitors generally. Each manager has at least two hours a day for real thinking.

John D. Rockefeller had that idea many years ago. One of his local managers, pointing proudly to a desk loaded down with papers, said to him: "A lot of detail, but I shall get through it all by night." Mr. Rockefeller, smiling, said, said to his directors: "I want all important managers in our organization to sit with their feet up on our desks, talking how they can make more money for Standard Oil." They made it, with Rockefeller's direction, and now he spends it wisely, fighting disease and ignorance to get ahead, remembering that thinking comes first. The rest is secondary.

Learners possess in the University of Southern California say that change, within reason, is good. It makes students select their expressions instead of using them automatically. To call your friend a "Dim Bulb" is better than saying to your brother "You fool," and it saves the

18 CHARRED BODIES IN QUEBEC HOSPICE RUINS; GIRL DIES SAVING TOTS

Quebec, Dec. 15 (A.P.).—Eighteen bodies had been recovered today from the fire-swept ruins of the Hospice St. Charles Orphanage. A check of the missing and injured led firemen to believe that at least fifty lost their lives.

The bodies of seventeen children and one man recovered indicated that they died of suffocation. The institution sheltered 500 children and 43 nuns.

The staff of nuns of the Good Shepherd, who conducted the institution, and the children were in bed when the fire, believed to have started in the basement, swept up to a dormitory on the second floor.

THROUGHS CHEER LINDY AS CALLES GREET HIM

Mexico City, Dec. 15 (A.P.).—Crowds that gathered in the streets everywhere that he passed, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh today paid an official call upon President Carranza, who again lauded him upon his brilliant flight from Washington to Mexico City. Completely rested after a twelve-hour sleep and looking fit and fine, Lindbergh made a series of official visits with American Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow and then went out to the Valdean air field to see his beloved Spirit of St. Louis with which he gained such fame.

Among the places the American aviator visited during the day were

NORRIS OF NEBRASKA AND DUDLEY MALONE ALSO ON PROBE LIST

Washington, Dec. 15 (A.P.).—Four United States Senators—Borah, Heflin, La Follette and Norris—were named today as the mysterious quartet recently described anonymously in the Hearst newspapers as the intended recipients of a $1,215,000 Mexican government slush fund.

Immediately after their names were disclosed, Borah, Heflin and La Follette appeared before the special Senate committee investigating the charges and denied that they had received money from such a source or had been approached by anyone who might have been interested in such an offer.

Senator Norris, ill at his home, issued from his sickroom a denial of any knowledge of a Mexican slush fund. Senator Borah, who is chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, was named in documents submitted by William Randolph Hearst, as having been destined to receive $500,000. Heflin was to have received $350,000, according to the documents.

the Foreign Office, Chapultepec Palace and the National Museum. At the latter place he inspected the famous Aztec calendar stone.

Everywhere that he went Lindbergh was greeted joyfully by Mexican citizens, into whose hearts he has completely won his way.

CHEERED BY CROWDS.

A crowd of several hundred persons had gathered outside the gates of the American embassy when Lindbergh and Ambassador Morrow left for the Foreign Office.

Pres. Coolidge and Calles Exchange Lindy Greetings

Washington, Dec. 15 (A.P.)—“I am deeply pleased to meet your Excellency my most cordial felicitations at the very moment in which Colonel Lindbergh arrived in Mexico after his notable trip, accomplished with the greatest success,” said a telegram to President Coolidge, received today from President Calles of Mexico.

President Coolidge dispatched the following reply: “I am deeply gratified with your Excellency’s cordial message of congratulations on the occasion of the successful completion of Colonel Lindbergh’s historic flight which I sincerely trust may serve to unite more closely our two nations.” Secretary Kellogg and Mexican Ambassador Teller also exchanged messages of felicitation over the flight.

the American flier responded with his usual quick smile and wave of his hand.

Along the routes to the foreign office, where the streets were still full of the stars and stripes and Mexican colors from yesterday’s triumphal procession, the populace regarded the flier and cheered him madly.

News of Lindbergh’s arrival at the foreign office spread through the streets, and within a few minutes the corridors of the building were packed with spectators applauding the American flier.

Lindbergh smiled and nodded in appreciation of the welcome and accompanied by Ambassador Morrow entered the foreign office where a formal reception was held in the main. Foreign Minister Estrada and prominent members of the foreign office greeted him warmly.

DINKY TONK TO ABE

When champagne was served, the foreign office officials proposed a toast to good relations between the United States and Mexico.

Colonel Lindbergh, just as he did in Paris, courteously lifted the glass to his lips and went through the gesture of sipping without drinking any of the wine.

Acting Foreign Minister Estrada formally expressed the delight of the Mexican Government that the flight to Mexico City and said that Mexico was honored to have him as her national guest.

Lindbergh then expressed appreciation for the cordial reception given him by the Mexican people.

While driving from the foreign office to the National Palace Ambassador Morrow suggested that as they had about five minutes to spare they might first visit the national museum to see the historic Aztec calendar stone.

Colonel Lindbergh agreed and the party went to the museum. Ambassador Morrow acting as guide for the American airman.

Then the party rushed around the corner to the National Palace to see President Calles.

The military guards at the National Palace entrance snapped to attention as the party drove up and Colonel Lindbergh returned the salute.

President Calles received the American flier whom he had hugged so affectionately on his arrival yesterday in his private reception room.

ments, LaFollette $15,000 and Norris, presumably, the remainder of the $1215,000 fund.

All four Senators have been active in Mexican affairs and at one time or another each of them had disagreed with the Mexican policies of the Coolidge administration.

The American “pay-off man” for the slush fund was said in the documents to have been Dudley Field Malone, a New York lawyer. Malone also took the witness stand and denied connection with any such project.

The documents were submitted to the committee by Mr. Hearst with the comment that although he had many reasons to think they had come from the official files of the Mexican government and were authentic, he did not believe any of the money had been paid over.

one who would think that any one of these senators received for would receive one dollar for any action involving their services.

Senator David A. Reed of Pennsylvania, chairman of the committee, added that there was no evidence that any Senator had received money from the source named.

In his testimony Senator Heflin said that he had received some payments for expenses while he was leaving on Mexican affairs, but that the charges came from “Protestant ministers, K. K. K. men and others interested in the lecture.”

Malone began his testimony by saying he did not know and never had seen Arthur M. Elias, the Mexican consul-general at New York, with whom he was represented in the documents as having worked.

Third Fire Disaster in Canada for the Present Year

Toronto, Dec. 15 (A.P.)—The fire at the Hopkiss (A.P.) Charles, near Quebec, was the third disaster to take numerous young lives in Canada this year, bringing the number of victims to more than 100. The other two were the fire and panic at the Lester Theatre, Montreal, January 9, when 39 were killed, and the orphanage fire at Lac La Poudre, Sask., September 19, when 10 children were burned to death.

Other fires in Canada in the year claimed upwards of 4 victims.

The fire was discovered by Sister St. Theresa, who noticed smoke in the corridor and aroused the sleeping children and other occupants of the orphanage.

Early in the night work a human chain was formed, stretching from the orphanage to a tobacco factory directly across the street.

As scores of terrified children, many of them half-conscious, were removed from the burning building, their screams mingling with the roar of the flames, they were lifted from one to another of those in the chain to the factory. There doctors and nurses busily gazed in care for them.

Rescuers groped through blinding smoke and flames in their search for the children, many making several trips into the building before the collapse of roofs and walls forced them to abandon their efforts.

Many of those rescued were hurried to private homes and other institutions throughout the city for shelter from the moderately cold atmosphere, a fact which made a complete check of the missing practically impossible.

One of the pneumatic postal tubes operating between the main post office and the North Station was blocked today when a package is believed to have opened and scattered its contents, according to Assistant Postmaster Herbert M. Hanson.

A gang of men was started at once excavating in Berna street, in the rear of the Post House, when the block in the tube is believed to have occurred. It was expected service would be resumed later today, with only a slight delay in the handling of Christmas mail from North America.

The tube is eight inches in diameter and is used solely for the transmission of first class mail.

Firemen said that the spread of the flames had been so rapid that many could not have been brought to safety.

Handfuls of weeping persons stormed the morgue seeking to identify the bodies of the little children who perished in the fire.

Other hundreds—men and women of all classes—congregated in the streets near the burned institution watching the firemen search the incalculable ruins for other victims.

Grief At Morgue

All over the city people went about the duty of the day with a painful gloom. The little victims, many of whom died in their sleep, unaware of their danger, were laid out in rows. Long lines of people filed by, scanning the upturned faces.

“Where is my child?” “Is he dead?”

There were frequent inquiries made by sobbing, hysterical women. Morgue attendants soothingly tried to help them.

Most of the children in the institution were from the city of Quebec and surrounding towns, and their ages ranged from three to sixteen years.

FIREMAN SAVES 15

So rapidly did the flames spread that despite every effort by the nuns, firemen, police and citizens, little could be done to rescue the youngsters, many of whom were so overcome by sleep that they could hardly have realized what was going on.

Twice more he had groups of the nuns and little girls of the orphanage and led them to safety.

Many stories of disaster were told. One fireman was reported to have rescued fifteen children, making repeated trips up and down a ladder.

RUTH AND GRAY ARE DECLARED TO BE SANE

New York, Dec. 15.—The New York Daily Mirror in a copyright story says this morning:

Ruth Snyder and Henry Judd Gray are sane enough to die in the electric chair.

That is the substance of a report agreed upon by three State alienists following their third examination of the condemned pair in Sing Sing Prison's house of death Tuesday.

The report will be presented to Governor Smith about Dec. 22.

The Daily Mirror learned that the result of the third examination was identical with those of the first, two: that there does not exist in either Ruth or Gray any functional disorder or abnormality affecting their legal status of sanity.

The report will call both sane, it will (lowest Governor Smith with no medical reason for saving the two from the chair the week of January 9.

JURY WILL SEE 'HONEYMOON SHAMBLES'

Palmworth, O., Dec. 15 (A.P.)—The honeymoon cottage on the rich T. H. West nursery lands, near Perry, in which Velma West is charged with having killed her husband, may be the center of evidence when the January Grand Jury considers the case.

Sheriff Edward Rasmussen revealed today that the little cottage has been guarded twenty-four hours a day so that the Grand Jury may view the bedroom in which T. H. West was slain just as it was after the slaying.

Young West was a son of T. H. West, nationally known horticulturist.

The State's orders to guard the death chamber have been taken to indicate the prosecution will rely upon circumstantial evidence found in the bedroom to substantiate Velma's reputed confession that she lost her husband to death with a claw hammer.

While her attorneys continued today to marshal evidence to support her defense, Velma dozed sleepily into the pages of a murder story by a modern fiction writer.

Letters, both comforting and condemning, the confessed hammer slayer, have poured into her cell during the last few days.

IN SPIRIT, IF NOT IN PERSON, EVERY SINGLE MEMBER OF THE BOSTON SKATING CLUB WILL BE IN SAN MOHITZ in February. For then, in competition with skating stars of the world, Mrs. Theresa Ward Blanchard and Nathaniel W. Niles seek Olympic honors on the flawless ice of the Continent's most brilliant winter resort. It's a most interesting pilgrimage these stars of the twists and spirals take. And they go thither well seconded by such youthful prodigies as Miss Maribel Vinson, Roger Turner and Miss Beatrice Loughran. They should make a mark even against the superlative skaters they have to meet.

As for present plans, they embark on the Aquitania, January 14. A bit more immediate are Mrs. Blanchard's plans. But one thing is certain, Miss Dorothy Ward, her sister, is sure to go to San Moritz, and it is quite likely Mr. and Mrs. A. Could so finished an aggregation be on the ground, so to speak, and not take in such an event? Certainly not Mrs. Blanchard and Miss Vinson and the others, and quite possibly Mr. Niles as well. In pair figure skating, the Blanchard-Niles team is well high favorites. And both will do "staged" as well. A delightful prospect, this, of traveling several thousand miles on so interesting a mission, and with so interesting a group.

FOR TOMORROW EVENING'S CONCERT IN BRATTLE HALL, in Cambridge two things that spell success are assured. One is an enormous house, for practically the entire hall is sold out and the S. R. O. will surely have to be hung up. Second, it will be an excellent performance. For Harvard's Instrumental Clubs are in fine fettle, ready to perfect concert pitch and only awaiting the baton that signals the first notes. Young Mr. Thorndike Dudley Howe, Jr., in their leader, and the entire group is trained to the nth degree of perfection. They each and every one deserve the "H" of Alma Mater.

PRIMARILY FRIDAY IS AN EVENING DEVOTED TO THE Younger Set. And since so many young college men are the performers it goes without saying that the audience, largely females, is also likely to be overwhelmingly debaucherous. They flock along the same paths, do these young men and maidens, and a stalwart of college men is a sure fire mascot for practically every body. It is never so many dancers prelude the concert. Mr. Thorndike Dudley Howe, another of the Club's leaders, is entertaining guests at his Beacon Hill home and taking them over to Cambridge later.

MRS. T. BARNETT PLIMPTON IS ENTERTAINING SOME YOUNG people at dinner before the concert. And so is Mrs. Reginald C. Heath. Another young set group for dinner and the concert is to have Mrs. Robert Ware as hostess at her Beacon street home. Star "acts" glimmer on the program. A youthful collegian, adept at ventriloquism, does a turn. Some experts at the xylophone and the accordion add variety as well as excellence to the program. They say in Cambridge that certain gifted performers could this very moment "sign on the dotted line" for vaudeville did not college duties have first call on the holidays.

THE CONCERT IS "FAREWELL" TO CAMBRIDGE FOR A WHILE. Almost before the last waiting note has died on the midnight air, the whole troupe extricates. And then for two weeks they do a tour. They move from one smart resort to another. Pittsburgh is one stop and Augusta down in Georgia is another. And then they go Westward to show Pittsburghers just what accomplished musicians Harvard produce. Their trip is the native of a lark, for they cheer!

YOUNG MR. HOWE JUST PREVIOUSLY MENTIONED COMES quite naturally by his directorial genius. Witness the amazingly successful results when Mrs. Howe, mater, has her shoulder to the wheel and a benefit is on. Just now she is intensely interested in a cinema morning, "Nanook of the North," put on at the Kester Street Theatre for the Vincent Memorial Hospital. December 29 is the date, a benefit for the Vincent Memorial Hospital. December 29 is the date, a benefit for the Vincent Memorial Hospital. December 29 is the date, a benefit for the Vincent Memorial Hospital.

THE VINCENT HOSPITAL enjoys a remarkable backing. It's board, so to speak, is the very backbone of the credit and all that it means in and about Boston.

NOT ENTIRELY EXTINGUISHED is the debatable light on the social horizon. Now and then there's a hot party to save the scene for the Just One set. Friday's list glimmers over so really for the hot and her best because of Mrs. Bacon Pleasanton's. The dance will be for two hundred or more, exactly the number to cozy fill the Club Maroon. And before the dance there is a dinner, also at the Club Maroon, and for twenty or so guests.

EVEN THOUGH THE BOSTON visit of the Willingtons lacked the stamp "official" it lacked nothing whatsoever of brilliancy and swank. Boston's best passed into the Chilton Club last evening beneath those gaily striped awnings, to be presented once again to His Excellency, the Governor General of Canada, and His Excellency's charming spouse.

MRS. THORNDIKE D. HOWE

Society matron entertains at dinner before the Harvard Instrumental Club concert tomorrow evening in Brattle Hall. Thorndike Howe, Jr., is president of the club.

the Victrolas Willingtons. The Willingtons have passed from one social triumph to another. And last evening's reception was the climax even though the Chilton Club's august head, Mrs. Nathaniel Thayer, resigned her official duties to the next in line.

NOW THE SOCIAL SHOOTING IS OVER AND THE TUMULT OF the ten cups has died down. The Excellencies soon are homeward bound to Governor's House in Ottawa and Society here awaits later, the arrival of its next lions. As for the lion, there's been no need of that to lend glamor to the passing year. Sir Thomas Tall, came and conquered, and so did His Excellency, Paul Claudel, Ambassador from France. And just now the Willingtons. And for each arrival there was a fanfare of trumpet. And from out of the strong box came Milady's choicest jewels to blaze beside orders and decorations. How we in this democracy do adore the visits of these great ones.

ADVERTISING CLUB WILL GIVE SHOES TO CHILDREN

The Advertising Club of Boston will distribute five pairs of shoes to needy children of Boston, according to an announcement made today. With the assistance of various charitable organizations, the children, between the ages of 5 and 12, will be presented each a pair of shoes on Monday of No. 15 High street, on December 21, 22 and 24, between 2 p.m. and 5 p.m. Report also that there will be on hand 100 pairs of shoes but each child receives the correct size, and members of the club will assist.

BURNS SHADOW MAN ON STAND IN JURY PROBE

Washington, Dec. 15 (A.P.)—Deputy Attorney General E. A. Tamm, Jr., a juror in the Fall-River conspiracy trial was made on the stand in the criminal contempt proceedings today by Frank J. O'Reilly, a Burns detective who advised the jury.

After repeated attempts to get O'Reilly to tell more about his shadowing activities had failed and the trial judge had admonished him to hurry up, James J. O'Leary, assistant district attorney, asked point blank:

"Mr. O'Reilly, did you ever apprehend Juror Kilduff?"

"Positively not," replied O'Reilly. "Did Juror Kilduff ever talk to you?"

"Positively not," O'Reilly had admitted he talked with Kilduff's mother and father the former at her home and the latter at his barber shop. On cross-examination he said the reason for his visit to Kilduff's home was to see if a barber named Kilduff lived there.

Don K. King, a newspaper reporter, and J. Ray Akers, a former trial conductor, who declared in affidavits Kilduff had talked freely about the case, were summoned to the district attorney's office just before the trial.

Bauer's First Dog Day Produced Real Dog, And a Town One

Mrs. Bauer's first day as a dealer of State officials in connection with the dog-restraining order, was not so hot.

A large and enthusiastic dog kept some 100 pedestrians from progress to four directions at Summer and Oakville streets today, right at the first day of the order.

The dog wasn't restrained in the senseless, snappings and darlings, but two policemen summed in the scene, were restrained by a great deal of doubt.

For several minutes Officers Louis Stagnall and Corvallen curbed between them on what might happen if they shot the animal. Finally they decided against shooting and Pullman Shanahan got a clothline and the dog was lassoed, frayed up and turned over to a veterinary.

URGES CURB ON CITY AND TOWN BORROWING

To restrict municipal borrowing, and to curb the mounting debt of the various cities and towns, the Commission Henry F. Long today recommended to the Legislature that hereafter all petitions seeking special authority to borrow be rejected that have not the approval of a majority of the registered voters.

The commission pointed out that the debt of cities and towns increased from $100,000,000 in 1916 to $250,000,000 in 1926, and that $7,500,000 of the increase occurred during 1926 of which $2,000,000, or 26 per cent, was on account of special acts of the Legislature.

The commission suggests a system of charges be required which will bring in sufficient money to cover all carrying charges of activities which benefit few.

He also recommends that the limit be imposed on the amount of borrowing by cities and towns, and for all towns of $20,000, and for cities of $50,000.

Borrowing for playground purposes should be placed outside the limit, should be placed outside the limit, should be placed outside the limit.

He favors the outlet groups for cities and towns rather than a blanket budget, and opposes assessing the burden of the debt on the property extended by the mortgage.

DOCUMENTS IN MEXICAN EXPOSE ARE GIVEN TO SENATORS

He never heard of the alleged transactions mentioned, he said, nor had he ever acted as intermediary between Mexico and any other government, any members of Congress, or any individual.

"I have no idea why my name was mentioned," he said. "I have never been to Mexico nor associated with Mexico. I have never had $1,000,000 in my possession from any source whatever."

"I have not seen Senator Heflin since 1913. Have not seen Senator Borah for five or six years. Haven't seen La Follette since he came to the Senate. Haven't seen Senator Norris since 1913."

Facing the stand as the first witness in the committee's inquiry to day, Mr. Hearst said that E. J. Coker, one of his New York editors, decided the documents which were in code and which he claimed came from the Mexican official archives.

KEEPS NAME SECRET

Mr. Hearst said that some of the documents came in him about May 1913, and some as late as a month before their publication.

Declining to make public the name of the person who gave them to him, he said that "he would not be grateful for this man in Mexico."

He gave the name in secret to the committee on a slip of paper.

Chairman Reed, Republican, asked Mr. Hearst about the documents which have appeared in the Hearst papers and which have been declared to be forgeries by Mexican officials. They have dealt largely with alleged propaganda efforts by Mexico against the United States.

Explaining how he got the documents, Mr. Hearst said:

"This man I have named to you communicated information that these documents were available in distant unannounced interference in the affairs of the United States. He gave me the documents in the office of my mother's estate."

"Finally he said that for $100,000 or $120,000 he could get copies of the documents relating to the United States Senate. This man never said he had seen them."

"Later I authorized expenditure of about $1,000. That was in April of this year."

This secret man and John Page, a Hearst reporter, produced about ten documents, Hearst said.

SEEN BY SHEFFIELD

"They were original documents and seemed of great importance," Hearst declared. "They said they had made every effort to determine their authenticity."

"They said they had submitted the documents to Ambassador Sheffield and had been unable to find anything wrong."

"They said the persons who delivered them from the archives bureau were going to leave Mexico, and probably would bring other documents with them. I told them I would like any further documents these clerks might get sending to the committee of the embassy."

"I was interested in what they said. I told them I would like any further documents these clerks might get sending to the committee of the embassy."

not recall the names or location of the mines. Only one was good, he said.

"Did you learn of grammatical errors in the documents?" he was asked.

"Yes, but I am informed that is not unusual, as government clerks are often not graduates of high schools in Mexico."

"Why didn't you seek to find out if the Senators were paid?"

"Because that could reveal the nature of the documents," he said.

"You said that the Senators were never paid?"

"Yes."

"One of your objects then was to cause a congressional investigation to produce the names of the Senators which you were unwilling to take responsibility for?"

"If I am so charged."

"Did you consider the liabilities for the libel you might be subject to?"

"Yes, I guess so."

"You had that liability in mind when you did not use the names?"

"I don't know. I did not use the names."

HEFLIN'S RETORT

Notified that his name was included in the list named in the Mexican documents, Senator Heflin immediately came before the committee.

"I was not delivered to me," Heflin said, referring to a statement in the documents that he was supposed to have been paid $350,000.

"I had not received a cent of some expenses when I was on a lecture tour about Mexican affairs," he said. "These checks were from Protestant ministers, K. K. K. men and others interested in my lectures."

"No official or representative of the Mexican government ever approached me."

"I first heard of this from a newspaper man several days ago. This man said he got it from the Hearst man."

"At this point Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, chairman of the committee, asked Heflin to close the documents named Dudley Field Malone of New York as financial agent for the Mexican government in the alleged transactions."

Heflin declared that he had not met Malone for a number of years. "This is the work of some enemy," he said. "I have a good deal to say about this on the floor of the Senate. Things do not seem so pitiful as when we cannot avoid blackmailers getting at us. I hope the committee will prosecute these crooks and scoundrels."

LA FOLLETTE SPEAKS

Senator La Follette, named in one of the documents as the Senator for whom a bond of $150,000 was provided, followed Heflin on the stand.

"I have not received a cent of some expenses when I was on a lecture tour about Mexican affairs," he said. "These checks were from Protestant ministers, K. K. K. men and others interested in my lectures."

"No official or representative of the Mexican government ever approached me."

a newspaper man from Mexico, referred to it.

"He said he had heard of those documents while he was in Mexico. He said he understood one of the documents purported that four senators, including myself, were supposed to have received money."

"No one ever approached me in a matter of this kind. I had no communication from any person in connection with this either by mail, word or any other manner."

Read said that Dudley Field Malone of New York was "supposed" to have been the intermediary.

"I have had no conversation or meeting with Malone of any kind about this," said Borah. "I know Mr. Elias and never saw visited by anybody representing him."

He referred to Arthur M. Elias, Mexican Consul-General in New York who was named in the documents presented by Mr. Hearst.

"I have never received any money from anybody, or anything of value from anybody, in connection with Mexico," the Nebraska senator continued.

"I have never had any offer or any intimation that anybody contemplated offering me anything if I had the title would have heard of it without waiting for Mr. Hearst to publish the fact."

"It seems to me now to be the duty of the committee to go to the bottom of this matter and particularly to trace the source of these documents."

"If any of these documents are authentic, the Mexican Government is guilty of an offense which can be described in words. If they are false, the men who perpetrated them on the public and blackened the reputations of American officials and Mexican officials alike deserve exposure and punishment to the full limit of the law."

"In view of the fact that my name has been mentioned, I feel I have the right to ask the committee to go to the bottom of it."

about this," said Borah. "I know him about five or six years ago."

Informing that Senator Hiram Johnson, Republican of California, was going to him for a statement, Senator Norris arose from his seat and was sitting in his library in a dressing gown when the Californian arrived.

"In view of the fact that my name has been mentioned, I feel I have the right to ask the committee to go to the bottom of it."

"I have never had any offer or any intimation that anybody contemplated offering me anything if I had the title would have heard of it without waiting for Mr. Hearst to publish the fact."

"It seems to me now to be the duty of the committee to go to the bottom of this matter and particularly to trace the source of these documents."

"If any of these documents are authentic, the Mexican Government is guilty of an offense which can be described in words. If they are false, the men who perpetrated them on the public and blackened the reputations of American officials and Mexican officials alike deserve exposure and punishment to the full limit of the law."

Starts 'Pauper Strike' as Rich Wife Shuts Purse

Chicago, Dec. 15 (A.P.)—The Chicago Herald and Examiner says today that Jay O. Clark of Crown Point, Ind., 50-year-old husband of the wealthy widow of Malvin F. Clark, former Chicago parker, has gone on a "pauper strike," and is spending the holidays at the Lake County, Ind., poor farm.

Mr. Clark told a reporter, the paper says, that he and Mrs. Clark disagreed as to his habits, and he had decided to throw himself upon the mercy of the county, inasmuch as his wife had closed her checkbook to him.

MAGRUDER SAYS NAVY YARDS IN WRONG PLACE

Washington, Dec. 15 (A.P.)—Admiral Thomas F. Magruder, who was relieved as commander of the Philadelphia navy yard after publishing criticisms of the naval organization, was given an opportunity to have his say today before the House naval committee, and he immediately went to the nub of the argument—that there were too many yards and too many admirals.

Among the yards which could be well disposed with, he said, was that at Charleston, S. C. There had been brought upon him, he asserted, when he was in charge of matters pertaining to naval activities at New Orleans.

There are too many naval bases on the Atlantic coast and not enough on the Pacific, the admiral argued, in endorsing the construction of the present base in Hawaii. He opposed construction of navy ships in government yards, declaring that at the time the William Cramp & Sons Shipbuilding Company went out of business the navy was building cruisers in its own yards on the Pacific coast.

RUSSIAN BUSINESS MEN HELD UP AT ELLIS ISLAND
New York, Dec. 15 (A.P.)—Eleven Russian industrialists were detained at Ellis Island pending a hearing today under regulations governing admission of persons from the Soviet Republic.

The industrialists came to the United States, they said, to confer with financiers regarding a $40,000,000 loan to the Soviet Republic. The loan would be used to build a steel mill and to invest in machinery.

A $200 bond posted by each of the four men who were not overruled by the committee to permit entry in such cases.

AMERICAN WOOLEN ADVANCES PRICES
Prices of men's wear woolsens were advanced today from 2 1/2 to 5 cents a yard over previous prices, it was announced by the American Woollen Co. from Boston.

Rising wool and yarn costs were given as reason for the advance. The company also announced that its flock line will be between $900,000 and $700,000.

KELLOGG REFUSES TO INTERVIEW IN PANAMA
Washington, Dec. 15 (A.P.)—Secretary Kellogg today informed Dr. Helmut Forster, presidential candidate in the forthcoming Panamanian election, that he saw no necessity for American intervention in those elections.

Forster had sought American intervention on the ground the incumbent administration would seek re-election.

Girl Runs Into Traffic Stand; Cop Plays Safe

When better women drivers are built, Policeman Mike ... won't build them, but he'll applaud in a feeble, desultory way.

Policeman Mike ... as directing traffic at Dorchester avenue and Adams street, Dorchester, today he signalled a woman driver to come ahead. She came ahead—right into the traffic box.

When he had collected himself together again, she was smiling faintly.

"Shall I back up?" she asked. "No," the policeman answered wearily. "I'll move the stand over to the sidewalk until you go by. How long have you been driving?"

"My license showed twelve days." "Now, madam, when I get it, she sidewalk with this here box, you drive straight ahead; here in the middle of the street, don't serve either way, because those things you see on each side are buildings."

And while the crowd watched carefully removed the traffic box and she drove indifferently on. She hit nothing else while she was in sight.

"Ironside's" Sticks for Three
One of three walking sticks made from timber of the U. S. Constitution will be presented on December 25 to Governor Fuller by Admiral Philip Andrews at the Boston Navy Yard. The sticks are for President Coolidge and the Secretary of War.

PAVE WAY FOR HERRICK TO TAKE UP ANTI-WAR TREATY

Washington, Dec. 15 (A.P.)—Ambassador Herrick plans to sail for the post in Paris Jan. 14, he has informed the State Department.

While it has been indicated at the White House that the question of the Briand proposals for an anti-war treaty between France and the United States would be taken up as soon as Mr. Herrick got back to Paris, it was said today at the State Department Secretary Kellogg had already talked with the French ambassador on this subject.

Tobacco Barn Burned
Hendry, Dec. 15 (A.P.)—Fire of unknown origin destroyed a three-story tobacco shed and a 10-acre crop of tobacco in Hendry, owned by John Matulis, early this morning, with loss of $12,000 partly covered by insurance.

High Pressure Selling Methods are Not Employed

SHOPPERS at the Taylor Furniture Store are allowed to make up their own minds before buying. No attempt is made to force a sale. No subterfuges are resorted to in order to get you to buy. Wilmington, Del., Dec. 15 (A.P.)—Half of Wilmington's police force, one of the few in the country to be completely motorized, is to go back on foot patrol. An order of Superintendent of Public Safety Black places fifty of the 100 police men on foot, with each man in the police squad to occupy one automobile. Hereafter two men are assigned to each machine.

Chicago, Dec. 15 (A.P.)—The usual pre-Christmas resolution for light wine and beer has been passed by the City Council. Similar resolutions have been introduced, old timers said, for the last 10 years by the same alderman, repeating the same speech—"Bathhouse" John Coughlin.

COMMUNISM IN RUSSIA FAILS,
SAYS LEE

Communism has failed in Russia and has been replaced by a dictatorship, but the Communist International still is the supreme danger menacing modern civilization, declared by Lee, publicity adviser for some of America's foremost corporations, speaking today at a Chamber of Commerce luncheon.

"State capitalism in Russia is now pointing toward an adjustment with the capitalism of Western nations," he said.

"The Soviet form of government in Russia is what I call the 'dictatorship of the proletariat'—a dictatorship of the proletariat against the bourgeoisie. The probability is in the direction of an adaptation of the practices of the Soviet Government to those of the rest of the world."

FUTURE IN U.S.

"The present is demanding more and more that the interest be considered policy against that of the material worker. The fight between Russia and Trotsky is fundamentally a fight between these two interests."

"The Russian peasant is essential to a capitalist. As long as he has the land and the right to control the output of his farm, he will not be a proletarian."

much bothered by the theories of Communist leaders.

"Russian propaganda is futile in America and reasonable Russians know it. One of them asked frankly, 'How could we expect to make Bolshevik propaganda in America against 25,000,000 motor cars?'"

"The Communist International is the supreme danger. So-called 'Bolshevik propaganda' gets all its drive from the International. It is harbored by the Soviet government but it is in fact an organization without a country, a world outgrowth of the Communist International."

"SAFETY RECOGNITION."

"Bolshevik leaders are realizing that world revolution is impossible. The only conceivable method of achieving success is for them to join the Russian state itself as a nation."

"Recognition by the United States should not be accorded except on principles laid down as necessary antecedents by the government."

"It is probable, however, that these principles may be formulated into a definite treaty except through negotiation."

BILL TO REORGANIZE
DISTRICT COMMISSION

Reorganization of the Metropolitan Police Commission, absorption of the park police, and the creation of a park police force are the main points of a bill introduced in the House today by the Committee on the District of Columbia. The bill would reorganize the Metropolitan Police Commission, which is the law enforcement body of the District of Columbia, and would create a park police force. The bill would also create a park police force.

Woodcock, one of the receivers of the line, announced today. Mr. Woodcock also said that reconstruction was as rapid as that as humanly possible.

BARRETT

Little Boston College Student Boxes as Feather; Seeks Tunney's Literary Crown

By JOHN R. GILLOOLY

Gene Tunney, world's heavy weight champion, won his pugilistic crown and then set out to acquire an education. Today he stands forth as the most learned and cultured titleholder in the history of the ring. So much so that he is sometimes termed "high hat" by the more plebeian class of fight followers.

There's a young man at Boston College trying to do Gene one better. He's Bobby Barrett who is striving to acquire himself with the classics and at the same time to win fight fame as a featherweight. Bob has succeeded partially in both his endeavors. He has won several Cares, Cleons, Livys and Hircos in the class room, and last Thursday night was the star of the B.C. Joe's amateur bout in winning the 115-pound title.

Barrett had to dispose of three contenders before he was crowned the champion. He decisively whipped the first opponent, knocked the second one clean out in half a minute, and dumped three faint rounds to an opponent who was not as fit as he.

Barrett who saw the B.C. lat in a box will agree that he's a winner. It was the first time that Barrett ever drew on the gloves in an arena. His opponent, who was a former prizefighter, was a real contender.

Barrett is a native of Boston. He was born in the city and grew up in the city. He is a native of Boston and grew up in the city. He is a native of Boston and grew up in the city.

"A GOOD MOTTO FOR A FIGHTER"

ΦΕΥ, ΦΕΥ,
ΦΡΟΝΕΙ

MOUTHFUL SURELY

But it is merely a Greek expression used by Bobby Barrett, the Boston College student, during training period time. Bobby is quite a featherweight and also quite a scholar. Our fruit pedlar translates said mouthful thusly: "Alas! alas! how dreadful to be wise!"

MR. BOSTON
By Jack Conway

"FIND that the boxers of today are lacking the humor of some of the oldtimers," piped Mr. Boston today. "The boys are so busy clipping coupons that they don't have time to laugh while in training or during a battle. Some of our hearties are as serious during a scrap as a board of directors preparing to stick the old knife into friend public."

"Follows like Jack Twinn Sullivan and Jack Johnson kidded their opponents into defeat. Years ago Jack Twinn was fighting some young Irish heavyweight out in Denver. Co. The boxer's name was Riley or something like that. He was a b.g. strong fellow, six feet tall and weighing 210 pounds."

The gang in Denver figured Riley was unbeatable as he had knocked out a regiment or so of big. The crafty Sullivan then given the name of Riley's smart.

"You're a swell looking kid," piped Sullivan. "Three kind words showed down Riley."

"And of course, to give him a taste of the fight."

"And what's the use of a couple of Irish fighters killing each other for a few dollars?" went on Sullivan.

"Riley began to see the light of reason and resorted to easy boxing. At the opportune moment, Sullivan stepped in suddenly, let fly a right hand sock to the chin and Riley was carried back to the mines."

JACK JOHNSON installed his opponents by a running fire of remarks. When he got the other fellow sufficiently fired up, he picked his opening and let the baysmark breathe over.

"Can't imagine a serious student like Gene Tunney in the ring with some of the oddities who would jab him with all kinds of mean remarks."

"Lamprey never talked once the bell rang. He is too determined a fighter machine to waste any of his time joking. The Tiger, when at last, didn't have to rely upon words to make openings for his punches."

"THE fans have not lost their sense of humor despite the heavy scolding for tickets and a flock of poor fights."

Vegetables in Combination Delicious

By MARTHA LEE.
GATHER closer, those of you who have a yen for vegetables—and clip these recipes for frequent use. Any one of them will make a complete meal with bread, and a fruit dessert. Or, if meat is included in the meal, one of these dishes will serve as the vegetable course.

They are served in the dishes in which they are baked, and their appearance is much improved by a touch of egg yolk, such as parsley, slices of hard-cooked eggs, cream, tomato slices, green pepper rings, cross sections of stuffed olives, and colorful sprinklings of paprika, finely minced parsley or grated raw carrots.

The Story of the Stars Light—The Astronomer's Detective By Garrett P. Serviss

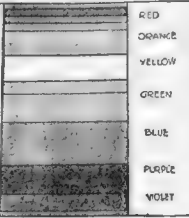

Light is the astronomer's keen detective. With the aid of light he discovers the sun and the stars. The first step in this is found in the rainbow, in which the sunlight is seen divided into seven primary colors.

The diagram above shows how the "refractive" power of water in a raindrop, indicated by the circle, separates the colors of the sunlight in a coronal arc with their wave lengths. The red rays are the longest of the colors

Years ago Sir Isaac Newton, by means of a glass prism, which disperses the colors more perfectly than a rainbow, laid the foundation for the wonderful instrument called the "spectroscope," which analyzes the sun and the stars.

Here is the "spectrum" of sunlight, divided into seven colors which always stand in the same order. Black lines crossing the spectrum are like "signatures" of the various chemical elements composing the sun. (Continued tomorrow)

A Giant of the Ice Age
THE skeleton of a giant of the ice age, six feet eleven inches tall, was found in perfect condition at Laitavist, in the Ural Mountains, when excavators were digging a foundation for a theatre.

Household Hints

To clean a lawn or light-colored railing, spread the coat on a table and apply with a soft brush. Warm soapy water containing a generous quantity of methylated spirits. Wipe off the latter with a clean cloth, and then rub the surface into the grain, and when nearly dry rub over a cloth.

Before use, new brooms and brushes should be soaked in water and then hung up to dry. They will last much longer if so treated.

Stomach Like New

Do you pay for indigestion at the table—sore, or with sour risings? For acids? Such distress is too easily relieved. Two minutes will prove this. Next combination of magnesia, citric carbonate and such soothing things serves all over-riding. And the famous Monday-on-Sunday tell tells how better and a great Starch keep the stomach.

Wherever you find a creature, you'll find Starch's. The handy meat pie for purse or pocket (enough for the one-week use) is quarter. The large size for 60 cts., and the family size, $1.50. A great stomach for twenty-five cents.

STUART'S TABLETS

A WIFE'S MEDITATIONS

By HELEN ROWLAND
EVERY woman goes through life looking for enchantment.

Every woman wants to dramatize herself, her life, her love affairs—and even her husband.

That is what makes her do all the foolish things and all the sublime things which frighten, annoy or amuse men, and keep them wondering about her.

To a man, life, love and women are just facts. To a woman, life is a play, love the third act, and the leading man of the moment is the "hero."

That is why men never can understand women.

When a woman feels like staging a romantic scene, she doesn't wait for Prince Charming to arrive; she picks out the nearest personable man and drapes her illusions on him, dramatizes him, and suddenly her sentiment over him. Many a perfectly unsuspecting man has been astonished to be rubbed off his feet, propped up on a pedestal, handed a crown and "ruined" over.

But, if a woman were not gifted with beautiful illusions, she could never visualize the blundering, incoherent creature in tweeds and a still collar who comes her way with one hand, while he runs his car with the other, as the romantic ideal of her dreams.

It is her search for enchantment, her imagination and her illusions that enable a woman to smile at the coarsest, commonplace life and make it bearable for her.

She parts with her illusions as she

Do You Know That—

Bamboo is the latest material used successfully for making paper? This means that bamboo, so long regarded as waste in India, has become an important commercial product?

By the time a man has reached forty or fifty, he has enough to worry him, what with his business, his health, his speculations, his reducing diet and his golf score, without worrying for any illusions to complicate matters.

But, many a woman spends half her Indian Summer hunting for the dramatic if youth, before the curtain goes down.

For a woman knows that she is old indeed, when her last illusion has been burned out and her last love affair has faded out. If she has never found her Isle of Enchantment by then, she finds that she has never really LIVED!

MEDBURY SAYS--

By JOHN P. MEDBURY
THOUSANDS of cowboys are taking up ice skating this year.

It's a great sport for lazy people. It keeps them off their feet so much of the time.

It's a very popular diversion among soldiers. It gives our standing army a chance to sit down.

BOYINNERS are getting smart. They carry with them the best of the best.

ONE fellow thought the city should make the ponds softer by freezing fountains in with the ice.

HE wants his friends upholstered.

HE was kind of a fellow who goes coasting in his hip pocket.

HE started dancing with a girl the other morning and they finally sat it out.

HE couldn't even stand on her foot.

BUT he's taking lessons now. He goes home every day and practices in the refrigerator.

THIS lack of room doesn't bother him. He's used to dancing in tight clubs.

HE goes out to the park every afternoon now, but he usually takes along a couple of hot water bags filled with arms.

HE's trying hard and wants some results for his pains.

HE says it's too bad that Nature doesn't build the ice higher so that he won't slip on the ice.

PIMPLES AND BLACKHEADS

Over Face and Neck. Healed by Cuticura.

"I had pimples and blackheads all over my face and they spread to my neck. They were so large and very red. They scalded over, and itched and burned so much that I had to scratch them. Scratching caused eruptions and my face looked worse than ever. The trouble lasted two or three years."

"I used all kinds of remedies but none did any good. I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a few samples. It helped me so I purchased more, which completely healed me."

COOK-BOOKS by Ted Rook

FRIDAY'S THIRTEEN: YEARLORD PROTEGE
Congressman-Large Attracted by Beautiful Voice Offers to Teach Child

Rockefeller alighted from his car and beckoned to the janitor, who was standing near the door. He said, "Good morning, Lulu," and, with a smile, dropped a bright new dime in her hand.

On the other hand, he is contradicting all his often-repeated advice about thrift.

It is to be hoped that Lulu saved her dime, instead of squandering it on a bar of soap or a new dust cloth.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Dear Editor:
I am a married woman, pursued by another man. He is mad about me. He threatens to destroy me unless I desert my triplet, and then with him to Singapore. I am a good woman. I think myself at his feet and begged him to let me alone. I imagine my regret as I went when he said, "S-tr-i-g-h-t. Run along. Got ten dollars on you."

MRS. GLUTZ.

(From Exhibitor's letter)
"Edward Laumac's motion picture career was begun in 1915, when he started as an electrical worker at Universal studio. The fact that he was the nephew of Carl Laemmle mattered not at all. It was intense study and hard work that 'voiced him to the top.'"

Mr. Frisky says:
"On the whole, him in general may safely be regarded as otherwise more or less normal."

"And the height of something," says the Rev. Mr. Wiley, "is a boddyguy eating angel food."

What the Mexican Documents Disclose And What the Situation Demands

The following editorial appeared in the New York Daily News of Tuesday morning:

AT Washington, a Senate committee investigates charges that President Calles of Mexico last year ordered a total of $1,215,000 paid to four United States Senators for work on Mexico's behalf in this country. At New York City, the Mexican Consul-General wonders whether he will be jerked to Washington to tell whether that money went through his office or not. At Washington, again, the Mexican Ambassador points to international law, which he says, gives the immunity necessary to keep the Consul-General off the witness stand.

In short, an international situation, as these things are politely called, is blowing up between the United States and Mexico.

Why, then, the scheduled "good will" flight of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh to Mexico City at this time?

It seems like extraordinary diplomacy, to say the least. It is as if we agreed in advance to forgive Mexico for whatever it may have done in the way of bribing or attempting to bribe our Senators.

THE Daily News is entirely right about the importance of the revelations contained in the official Mexican documents published in the Hearst newspapers.

These documents tend to show:

FIRST, that the Mexican Government is as Bolshevik in character as the Russian Government.

SECOND, that it maintains communication with the Russian Government and co-operates with it as far as possible in Bolshevik activity and propaganda.

THIRD, that it contributes funds to various Bolshevik movements and to various revolutionary activities in various parts of the world;

FOURTH, that the Bolshevik Government in Mexico is opposed in principle and in practice to the Government of the United States, and to the plans and objects of the United States, particularly in neighboring territories such as Nicaragua;

FIFTH, that it is in sympathy with the Government of Japan, not through any harmony of ideas in government, but apparently because the Mexican Government considers the Japanese Government a possible ally in certain operations against the interests of the United States;

SIXTH, that it has prepared and probably concluded a secret treaty with Japan which threatens the interests of the United States, and which invites the colonization of Japanese immigrants in Mexico and in Nicaragua and which contemplates the possible use of these immigrants in war-like operations;

SEVENTH, that the Mexican Government has plotted the establishment of a revolutionary Government in Nicaragua with the idea of having this revolutionary Government friendly to Mexico and friendly to Japan with the apparent intention of cancelling the rights of the United States in the Nicaraguan canal and turning the control of that canal, when built, over to Mexico and Japan.

FINALLY, the Mexican Government has not contented itself with plotting against the interests of the United States beyond the boundaries of the United States, but it has actually endeavored financially to influence various publications, various news associations, various important men in private life in the United States, and various important and influential men in public life in order to further its plans and purposes, which plans and purposes, as has already been shown, are contrary to the objects and interests of the Government of the United States, and to the welfare of the people of the United States.

Under these circumstances it would seem, as the Daily News forcefully says, that there is little occasion for any demonstration of grateful appreciation and sympathetic sentiment by this Nation or the patriotic people of this Nation toward Mexico.

But Colonel Lindbergh's flight to Mexico must not be taken as officially representing either the Government or the people of this country.

There are private interests that are seeking to obtain air route concessions and certain concessions of that character from Mexico and the United States, and these purely private concerns find that their advantage would be served by the dispatch of this young American hero as unofficial aeronautical ambassador to Mexico.

We must understand that private interests are not Government interests and that they are not, and need not be, as scrupulous as Government interest in international matters.

Furthermore, the recent disclosures of the hostile attitude of the Mexican Government toward this nation will probably have due disciplinary effect on the Mexican Government, and put it in a highly conciliatory mood toward this country.

The oil cases which have been held up for a very long time in the Mexican courts were decided promptly in favor of the American contenders as soon as these disclosures appeared.

So possibly the private concerns that are anxious to get air route concessions and other concessions of that character are right in assuming that this is the time to make their demonstrations and their applications.

As far as the United States Government is concerned, it should not do anything less than make vigorous demands on Mexico for a thoroughly adequate explanation of that country's activities and operations against this country's welfare and against the proper and peaceful procedure of this country's social, economic and political affairs.

PRACTICAL IDEAS ON CURBING CRIME

By DR. FRANK CRANE

THERE has been a good deal of talk about crime waves and much nonsense uttered in regard to them.

One class of quick-trigger reasoners have stormed about making severe punishments, having policemen shoot to kill, arming the citizenry, forming vigilance committees and all similar nonsense.

Crime is not going to be stamped out by severity any more than war will be stopped by rival armaments. Such things are provocative, not remedies.

In the welter of discussion a few dominant, sensible hints stand out.

In the first place the hiring of experts by the prosecution or the defense should be stopped everywhere. Experts should be chosen and supported by the court, so that their decision shall be absolutely unbiased. They should serve the State and neither the prosecution nor the defense.

Crime knows no set barriers and no neither should criminal justice. The suppression of crime either should be taken up by the Federal administration or there should be substantial agreement by all the States. It ought not to be possible for a criminal to escape by hopping over the State line.

Such laws as the Mann Act and laws preventing the transportation of prize fight pictures from one State to another are simply silly. If these things are wrong they should be prohibited. They should not be allowed in the first place and justice should not be compelled to take such a round-about way to arrive at its end.

The Bureau of Crime Identification ought to be unified and extended over the whole country.

There should be a unified pardon and parole system in all States.

Criminals should be compelled to work in prison and should get good wages and the money should be given to their families or the families of their victims.

Supporting criminals in idleness is absurd.

These are a few points which it might be well to think on.

BOSTON DAY BY DAY

CHARLES S. DAMRELL is executive secretary of the Boston building department. That is official. But Mr. Damrell is quite an authority on astronomy. For years his hobby has been this study. At night Charles S. Damrell goes over textbooks, astronomical charts, seasonal tables and various guide books. If he is looking for any particular star out he goes with the telescope. Although it is only three inches in diameter, Mr. Damrell says it magnifies objects 100 times.

With this telescope Damrell and his planet are now seen, the five nearest of gold. The barrels are supposed to be somewhere in Boston. And if the mayor finds the gold he gets $1,000. Maybe the mayor feels sure of finding that gold, for he has authorized the purchase of an addition to the zoo. It is one "island" in good running condition and guaranteed fine quality. The new island will take all the mayor's prize money, but a smooth-riding island is worth it. Members of the purchasing committee discovered what the island was when they asked to see the four-wheel brakes. It is a member of the Antelope family, being the largest of that type.

SUPPOSE everyone wants to be popular. And judging from the ads, we're willing to pay important money to anyone who will tell us how to achieve that result. I have discovered a way and I will have it on without taxing you a cent. But—wonder if you'll have sense enough to follow it? The best way I know of making yourself solid with other humans is to acknowledge that you're a fool. Come right out in the open and confess cheerfully that you're no doer. Say you don't know and stick to it. This scheme has several advantages. In the first place it eliminates the possibility of much achievement.

ment. The audience already knows that you're little better than a moron—and if they don't, they'll shortly discover it. By frankly acknowledging the fact, you force still their humiliating comment. Second—there's a subtle flattery in confessing that you're a moron. It confirms the other fellow's suspicion that he knows more than you do—and he'll be accordingly grateful and friendly. Third—let you out of a lot of trouble. If you're a fool no one can blame you now for anything. After you don't have to maintain a front which is a large relief in these pretentious days. Lastly, it has the inestimable value of being the truth. YOU ARE A
